Union Calls 120,000 Off Ford Jobs

Reuther 'Regrets Action'

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers Union today called 120,000 workers off their jobs in a nationwide strike against Ford Motor Co., second major strike in the auto industry in less than a month.

The union called the strike when its 11 a. m. EDT deadline passed without a new national contract agreement having been reached with the nation's second largest carmaker.

But even before the strike deadline was reached, thousands of Ford workers had walked off their jobs despite union warnings not to "jump the gun" on the deadline.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther emerged from the bargaining room in a downtown hotel as the deadline passed and announced that a nationwide strike was underway.

"We regreat the action very much," he said. "As you know, the union attempted to the last minute to reach a settlement."

Not Enough Time

He said "we regret very much that there wasn't time to work out a full agreement. We reached a final economic agreement at 6 a. m., but there was not enough time left to resolve some very

It doesn't seem possible that Roger Maris hit 61 home runs.

After all he wasn't on the Ed Sullivan show Sunday night. All Ed had was Tom Zachary the pitcher who threw the 60th home run ball to Babe Ruth.

Tracy Stallard now joins the Zachary clan. For the rest of his life people will ask him what kind of a ball he threw Maris.

Could you imagine him saying: "It was right down the middle. I wanted to become famous quickly."

The commissioners finally recognize some of Lower Bucks County's problems.

They promise a huge swimming pool ready for swimmers this summer. Just what we needed and the gentlemen deserve some applause.

Here's hoping all the rain falls before the weekend comes. That would be a pleasant switch.

Daylight saving time helps in the transition of summer to fall to winter. We'll have it with us until the last Sunday in the month.

LOWER BUCKS TO GET HUGE $250,000 POOL

Nice Weather For –

In Cobalt Ridge, Levittown, where these ducks and drakes live in happy, undomesticated freedom, the precipitation situation is pretty much the same as it is at your house. County OK's Project Near Silver Lake

A giant-size swimming pool, with diving and wading pools as well, will be constructed in Mill Creek Valley Park near Silver Lake to open next summer, the Bucks County Commissioners announced yesterday.

The commissioners condemned the necessary land for the pool site, off Beaver Dam Road near O'Boyles Restaurant, in Bristol Township, before making the announcement.

The pool will be constructed, for an estimated $250,000, on land now used for storing several hundred junked automobiles. The property, until recent years, served as a landfill for Bristol Township, for sanitary rubbish disposal.

As yet no admission charges have been set for the public pool. Admission to the present county-owned pool in Tohickon Valley Park, Plumstead and Tinicum Townships, is 60 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Plans Under Way

The John F. Thornton Co., of Blue Bell, engineers and Doylestown Architect Frank Schlesinger are making plans for the pool and a bathhouse, dressing rooms and refreshment stands. The commissioners hope to have the specifications ready to advertise this month for bids.

The bathhouse will be 64 by 132 feet, of brick construction and the dressing rooms will be open to the sky, to permit them to be dry and sanitary. The refreshment building will have two counters, one serving bathers and the other outside, for the general public.

County Commission Chairman Edward B. Boyer, in making the announcement, declared: "We are vitally interested in providing recreational facilities for the people of the county and this swimming pool will fill a great need for the people of Lower Bucks."

Long-Range Program

Dr. W. Wilson McNeary, chairman of the Bucks County Park Board, said the pool is the first part of a long-range development program for the Mill Creek Valley. Mill Creek Valley Park will eventually include 1,500 acres along the stream and its tributaries from the Delaware River to Fairless Hills.

The park will include picnic

Pool Will Be One Of Biggest

Bucks' County's newest swimming pool will be one of the largest in the Delaware Valley area.

Its dimensions of 82.5 feet wide and 165 feet long are about five times as large as the present county - owned pool in Tohickon Valley Park, Plumstead and Tinicum Townships.

And the new $250,000 pool will be larger than the five Olympic-size swimming pools in Levittown, which each measure 125 feet long and 76 feet wide.

The diving pool of the county project will measure 35 by 45 feet and the round children's pool will be 40 feet in diameter.

This summer a new county pool will be in this spot instead of this junk yard. (Courier-Times Photo)

LPRA Will Have Ice Rink On Mall

Levittown ice skating fans anxiously awaiting cold, water-freezing weather, will soon be gliding over part of the Levittown Shop-A-Rama mall.

Levittown's Public Recreation Association today announced that as soon as weather permits, a plastic envelope, 74 feet by 90 feet will be placed on the grass mall in front of the Community Hall and filled with water they hope will harden and provide skating surface.

The entire area will be fenced in. Concrete steps will be covered with felt. The installation of lights and electrical re-wiring operations are scheduled to be bin soon, the LPRA said. Music will also be provided.

LPRA Members Only

Only LPRA members will be eligible to use the skating rink, free of charge. Admission will be by LPRA pool tag, the spokesman said. Members who have misplaced or lost their pool tags may get new ones, free of charge, by verifying their membership at the LPRA Community Hall office. Non-subscribers will be charged an admission fee.

A complete schedule of ice skating rink hours of operation will be announced later, the LPRA said.

The skating rink is only a part of the fall and winter recreation program of activities scheduled to begin tomorrow.

'Human Fly' Falls To Death

LONDON (UPI)—A romantic "human fly" fell three stories to his death Monday night, clutching the box of candy he apparently had hoped to toss into his sweetheart's window.

No one ever will be sure what 22-year-old Michael Wilson had in mind when he set out to scale the wall of the nurses' home where his fiancee, Patricia Wyler, lives.

'She thinks he was attempting a romantic delivery of his gift.

"It would be just like him," she sobbed today. "I think he planned to surprise me by dropping the box of chocolates through my bedroom window with a note."

Somehow, Wilson lost his way. The first any one knew of his plight was when he tapped on the third-floor window of a room occupied by another nurse, Katherina Schwaner, and called out, "Help me!"

Miss Schwaner, who was half-undressed, screamed and fled. Wilson fell to his death.

Merchants Told To Pay Tax

Township School Board Fails To Oust Souder Or OK Audit

By TOM TINDALL
Courier-Times Staff Writer

The Bristol Township school board, sitting in special session last night, failed to (1) approve its annual budget audit and (2) remove board member Louis C. Souder from his post.

The board did, however, authorize its solicitor to give township mechants ten-day notice that they must pay the school mercantile tax. Lack of compliance with the tax by the merchants, according to the board's action, will result in the businessmen being cited before a justice of the peace.

The failure of the board to approve its budget audit was attributed by some members to Souder. They said that Souder, who until recently was secretary of the board, had failed to submit meeting minutes which apparently are necessary to the approval.

Missing Minutes

It was the missing minutes plus the fact that Souder had been absent from three consecutive meetings before last night's special one which prompted board member George W. Fischer to move for Souder's dismissal.

It also was politics, for the vote which kept Souder's seat for him, was split strictly along party lines.

Those who voted against dismissing Souder were Democrats Louis A. Alimenti, Nicholas DeMara, John R. Stieber, R. Philemon Stout and Souder himself.

Republicans, Fischer, John F. Hess, Newton H. Parkes Jr. and James W. Rice voted to oust the former secretary.

Fischer's dismissal motion resulted in a minor verbal altercation between himself and Stieber.

Seconds after the Fischer motion was made and before it was voted upon, Stieber moved that the meeting be adjourned, laughing that the whole thing was ridiculous.

"If you'll keep your big fat mouth shut," Fischer said to Stieber, "I'll finish what I have to say."

Stieber then declared that the Republican party was using the Souder issue as "a political football" and "showing its true colors right at election time."

Hess, on the other hand, said

Rain To Stay Another Day

Occasional rain today in Lower Bucks County will be followed by more rain tonight and in the morning, says the weatherman.

However, tomorrow the rain will taper off, and gradual clearing is predicted by afternoon, with a high temperature expected of 70 degrees.

High temperature today will be in the 60s, followed by a low tonight of 50 degrees. A total of .52 inches of rain has fallen since the rainy spell began yesterday morning.

High School Senior Tells Of Killing College Girl, 18

Philharmonic Orchestra

Pickets Expected At Sunday Concert

There will probably be pickets as well as concert-goers at Sunday's Delaware Valley Philharmonic Orchestra Concert at Levittown's Woodrow Wilson High School.

That's what Frank Fee, business agent for Local 832, International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employes, (I.A.T.S.E.), told the Courier-Times this morning.

Fee said unless there is some "meeting of the minds" between Delhaas Joint School Board members, the Delaware Valley Philharmonic Orchestra or any other professional group that plans to use the school auditorium, "pickets will be at each concert."

New Proposals

The union spokesman said this weekend he sent a letter containing new proposals to the school board. Fee said he did not want to divulge the exact contents of the letter, however, until he received a reply from board members.

Union members seek, Fee explained, an agreement with the school board that it will not use teachers, students or board employes to perform stagehand duties when professional organizations are given permission to rent the school auditorium.

One board member said Fee would be given the names and address of organizations who will rent the auditorium so that the union might contact them.

He said if he would have been able to meet with the school baord and Lower Bucks County Community Concerts Association members before this past Sunday's concert, "something would have been worked out."

Brands Statements False

He declared as false statements by Community Concerts spokesmen that attempts had been made to contact him prior to this weekend's concert.

Fee explained he sent a registered letter containing union proposals to the Community Concerts' New York City office in June and wrote the local organization at the same time.

Fee said he never received an answer from either group. The union spokesman, in an attempt to set up a meeting, said he spoke twice with Mrs. Adelaide Patten and two or three times with Mrs. Dela Cardamon, both of whom are local Community Concert board of directors members.

"It's absolutely false that they tried to contact me. They certainly have my address," Fee stated.

No Objections

Fee said he has no objections to a teacher or other school board representative being present at concerts. He said he understands the school board made this request to insure the proper handling of school equipment and facilities.

Fee pointed out however, "Who is better qualified to handle stage equipment? A man who has been dong that work all his life or a teacher or student?"

The union official promised that there would be no "featherbedding" or asking for the hiring of more men than required to handle a particular performance.

Varying Rates

Union wages for stagehands are usually dependent upon the type, duration and complexity of a particular performance, Fee explained.

He said a performance such as the one held this past Sunday would probably have required the services of one man. This man would be on what Fee termed a "minimum four-hour call" he would unload and load equipment, set up the stage and then "work the show," Fee said.

Shows that extend over a period of time would be paid for on a flat hourly rate, Fee stated. All union prices also are dependent upon the particular day of the week, he added.

The union business agent said he has contacted the Trenton Local of the American Federation of Musicians to learn their feelings in the current negotiations.

Most of the professional musicians who play Lower Bucks County musical events belong to this union.

groves, golf courses, bridle paths and stables, tennis courts and other court games, boating on Silver Lake, an outdoor theater, ice skating and a marina.

"The Park Board, in cooperation with the county commissioners, is anxious to proceed with its plans to make this park one of the finest in the area," Dr. McNeary said, "and will prepare the plans and carry out the construction as fast as money is available. The board has demonstrated since 1957, when Mill Creek Valley Park was started, that it can improve the whole area and at the same time provide park and recreational facilities for the people of the county."

Condemn 23 Properties

The county commissioners yesterday adopted resolutions condemning 23 small properties and a 25-acre tract for the pool and surrounding space. The land includes a 25-acre tract owned by Joseph Clark, extending to the shore of Silver Lake. It also includes the scrap yard owned by Sol Perez, in which old automobiles are salvaged and bailed.

Robert W. Pierson, executive director of the Park Board, said the condemned land, on which the county will try to negotiate prices with the owners, will cost an estimated $225,000.

Bond Issue

The money for the land and pool construction will come from a park bond issue of $1,500,000 floated by the commissioners last year.

Pierson said the county has a good chance of receiving $240,000 in Federal funds for acquisition of land for the pool and other park projects under a law enacted by Congress June 30, 1961.

This provides Federal reimbursement for 20 or 30 per cent of funds used to preserve open space, from the Housing and Home Finance Agency. The $240,000 represents 30 per cent of $800,000 the commissioners have earmarked for park land acquisition in Mill Creek Valley, at the Churchville Reservoir and Upper Bucks County.

Familiar With Site

County Commissioners Boyer, John J. Bodley and Adolph A. Andrews and members of the Park Board are personally familiar with the land being acquired, having visited the site many times as the project was being planned.

Last spring the Park Board and commissioners planned to locate the pool on the opposite side of Silver Lake, in the Bath Well Field owned by Bristol Borough. The county and Bristol Borough Council failed to agree on the price of the land, resulting in the commissioners selecting the site across the lake in Bristol Township.

The establishment and development of Mill Creek Valley Park resulted from articles and editorial comment in the Courier-Times calling for expansion of the recreation facilities of what was a fishing lake into a park embracing the whole stream valley. Silver Lake was acquired by the county from the State Fish Commission in 1957.

Hunter Shoots 7 Horses

WHEATLAND, Wyo. (UPI) — Platte County Sheriff Bill Sutherland said today an eastern deer hunter who had never hunted in the West before shot seven horses on the Eugene Alloway ranch west of Wheatland Sunday.

Sutherland identified the man as Lester Wayne of Sinking Springs, Pa. Two of the horses were killed outright, two more had to be destroyed, and three others were hit by bullets, but were not wounded seriously.

Wayne, after discovering his mistake, went to the Alloway ranch-house and told Alloway about it, the sheriff said. He made a cash settlement for the horses.

Asked for an explanation Wayne offered for the shooting, Sutherland said Wayne "just thought they were deer, and got excited."

Alloway himself was not at home today and was not available for comment. Sheriff Sutherland said Wayne came into town to talk to him about the incident, but Sutherland filed no charges and made out no written report because Wayne had already paid for the horses.

President Is Briefed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's top military advisers brought him up to date today on improvements in U.S. defense strength since the onset of the Berlin crisis.

Kennedy held a morning conference with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said McNamara and Lemnitzer were summoned to bring the President up to date on defense developments.

In addition to the morning conference, Kennedy had an afternoon appointment with NATO commander Gen. Lauris Norstad. The supreme Allied commander is in Washington to report on NATO's strength in the face of the Berlin crisis.

Dope Raiders Arrest 32

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —More than 100 narcotics raiders swooped down on scores of dope-pushers in "Operation El Diablo" (Operation Devil) Tuesday following a mass pre-dawn briefing in Convention Hall.

Thirty-two suspects were arrested several hours after the crackdown was launched with 25 warrants still to be served.

Raiders carrying sledgehammers fanned out over the city, knocked on selected door and smashed them down when necessary to nab the suspects. A 17-year-old boy and a woman were among the first to be taken into custody.

Board To Hold Special Meeting

There will be a special meeting of the Bristol Township board of commissioners beginning at 7 p.m. tomorrow at the Benjamin Franklin Junior High School.

The commissioners are expected to award a bid for the purchase of a station wagon for use by the township Civil Defense department, to hear a report on the progress of an extensive road repair program, to discuss the possible appointment of additional school crossing guards at some critical sites, to appoint new committees within their board and to hire a clerk-typist for the township.

Youth Being Brought Home For Trial

MONTEREY PARK, Calif. (UPI) — Two Ohio detectives prepared today to take Richard (Rick) Stewart, 17, back to his home state to face prosecution for the month-old murder of a co-ed he had secretly admired but never dated.

The strapping 6-foot high school senior confessed to killing Judith Sooy, an 18-year-old Kent State University student at his Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, home on Sept. 2. Stewart had hitch-hiked over 12,000 miles across the country since the slaying.

"I'm glad it's over," Stewart told juvenile Sgt. Joseph R. Stewart. "I'm glad I can stop running.

"I regret what I did, but I had to. If I hadn't hurt Judy it would have been some other girl."

The youth's story came out slowly over a cup of coffee and a cigarette. Arrested yesterday on a vagrancy charge by a highway patrolman who saw him trying to thumb a ride in this suburb of Los Angeles, Stewart was brought to the local police station and turned over to Sgt. Stewart.

The youth at first said his name was William Johnson, that he lived in another Los Angeles suburb. But soon he blurted:

Admits Killing

"My name's the same as yours. I killed a girl in Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, last month."

Stewart said he had long admired Judy but had been too shy to ask her for a date.

On Sept. 2, while his parents were out of town for the Labor Day weekend, the crew-cut youth called Judy and, using the name of a more popular friend, asked her to go out with him.

She agreed.

"When I picked her up I told her the other boy had asked me to call for her," Stewart told the juvenile officer.

"I took her to my home, telling her I was going to pick up a record player . . . when we got inside I led her down to the basement . . ."

Police said Stewart told them he led the girl into the basement to undress her. When she resisted his attempts to disrobe her he hit her with a hammer, according to police.

Judy's body was found Sept. 4 by Stewart's parents when they returned from their weekend outing. Their son was missing.

Stewart said he hitchhiked from his home, a suburb of Akron, to Baltimore, to Washington, D.C., and then to Miami. From Miami he thumbed rides to Southern California, where he arrived two weeks ago.

Then, he told officers, he hitchhiked back to the East Coast. Finally he returned to the Los Angeles area, where he was arrested.

"I stopped by police stations from one end of the country to the other, asking directions, hoping they would recognize me and arrest me," Stewart said.

"But no one did until this morning."

Driver Held On Charges

Paul Detty, 36, 48 Ruby Lane, Red Cedar Hill, Levittown, was in Bristol Borough jail this morning, according to Bristol Township police, on charges of driving while intoxicated, driving while his license was suspended and violating parole.

Tullytown Justice of the Peace James Parto committed Detty after the man was arrested at 2:30 a.m. today.

According to the police, a truck Detty was driving collided with a parked car owned by John Ellis of 17 Crabtree Drive, Levittown. Ellis' car, which was parked in front of his home, was a total loss, the police said.

The parole violation charge, according to the police, grew out of a previous driving charge against Detty.

Officer William Brooke made the arrest.

Now in the planning stage is a "teen center" to provide a complete range of activities for young adults including dancing and similar activities.

Bucks County Line Oval

Track Groups Agree On $150,000 Rental

The Bucks County racing association will pay $150,000 in annual rental to the Liberty Bell Park group for use of the harness racing track now being constructed on the Philadelphia - Bucks County line, it was revealed yesterday.

The Bucks group, which is still awaiting a license, will pay the rental fee in addition to 50 per cent of its profits.

$2,000,000 Escrow

The Liberty Bell association agreed to lease the oval to the Bucks syndicate for 30 years last week with the stipulation that a deposit of $2,000,000 be put in escrow.

Both groups hope to hold their own 50-day racing seasons at the oval, located at Knight's and Woodhaven Roads in Northeast Philadelphia. More than 200 acres have been set aside in Bensalem Township, Bucks County, for the construction of other facilities.

The Liberty Bell syndicate is the only group which has been granted a license by the state Harness Racing Commission. The commission also must approve the lease by the Bucks Racing Association.

The Bucks syndicate, headed by Daniel C. Parish, Pittsburgh paving contractor, and Arthur J. Rooney, owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers, was granted an option to renew its lease for another 30-year period. James Clark, prominent Philadelphia Democratic politician, heads the Liberty Bell syndicate.

A rigid requirement of the lease provides that the Bucks group must pay a $500,000 penalty to Liberty Bell if it fails to exercise its option before the last year of its present lease.

The Bucks Racing Association must pay one-half of the real estate, water and sewer taxes, insurance premiums and repair and maintenance costs each year.

The Liberty Bell group hold the Bucks syndicate in default of its lease should the latter lose its license at the end of a racing season; fail to hold a meet of its own; enter into bankrupcy; neglect to pay its rent or engage in any misconduct that would bring discredit upon harness racing in Pennsylvania.

that he had voted to dismiss Souder because of Souder's "lack of interest in board business ever since he had lost the secretarial post and the salary that goes with it."

Souder was removed as secretary and Isaac Ben Ezra, a non-board-member, was given the job when the school district was advanced by the state from third class to second in July.

When Souder had the secretary's job it paid $5,000 a year. It now pays Ben Ezra $1,500. It is a part-time job and includes secretarial work for both the township and the Delhaas-Joint school boards.

The question of the budget audit, according to several board members, probably will be settled Thursday night when the joint board meets.

complex and difficult contract matters.

Reuther said these unresolved non-economic contract issues "deal with such things as production standards, union representation and skilled trades. In addition, there was a very complex problem in the steel plant forced upon us by the company and this took a great many hours when we needed them to work on other matters."

The union chief pledged the UAW would do "everything possible" to bring about a quick end to the strike. He said both sides have agreed to resume negotiations at 10 a.m. Wednesday—not before then because the negotiators were exhausted from a session which lasted all through the night and into this morning.

May Make Progress

"We feel that if we come back with clear minds, we might be able to make meaningful progress," Reuther said.

Ford Vice President Malcolm L. Denise said the strike was the first "in the 20 year history of our relationship with the UAW."

He said the walkout was "entirely unnecessary It is not over economic issues. The UAW has told us that these were resolved. Our economic offer exceeds the General Motors settlement."

Before reading his formal statement on the strike, Denise referred indirectly to the optimism that had prevailed until early today. "Things just fell apart," he said, "or else they didn't get glued together."

McDonald: Settlement Fails

Cost-Of-Living Hike Embroils Union, Steel

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The United Steelworkers and the U.S. Steel Corp. were involved in a dispute today over the cost-of-living increase due Oct. 1.

USW president David J. McDonald told district directors and local unions that "all efforts to arrive at a reasonable settlement of what the amount of cost-of-living adjustment should be have failed."

The dispute resulted after the union and company were unable to decide whether all or part of a cost-of-living increase of three cents an hour should be diverted to pay for premium increases or go to the workers.

McDonald said Heath Larry, administrative vice president of U.S. Steel, had informed him there was no hope of agreement and requested arbitration by an impartial actuary.

"I have answered Mr. Larry with the request that he reveal to the union exactly what is the company's position that they wish to have arbitrated," McDonald said. "To date the company has refused to state what adjustment, if any, they believe their employes are entitled to."

Going In Circles

By Ken Rabben

Falls Township voters can expect to see a lot of committee people this election. That's because the Berkes - Struble faction is trying to supplant the regularly elected committee people by appointing "acting" committee representatives.

Here's how it works:

Elected a committeewoman in Falls Upper District 1-1 was Mrs. Albert Nau. The Berkes-Struble faction, known as "The Falls Township Democrats for Continued Good Government," named Mrs. Marie McCloskey as "acting" committeewoman for this, the Fallsington and Pennsbury Heights section of the township.

Mrs. Mary Lou Green was elected committeewoman in Falls Upper District 1-2, Vermilion Hill and part of Fairless Hills. Appointed "acting" committeewoman by the "Good Government" group was Mrs. Sylvia Baird.

Mrs. Nau and Mrs. Green as well as the other duly elected committee people are sizzling over the effort.

Mrs. Miriam Brown of Fallsington has been walking around with her head in the clouds these past few days.

Her black Scottish Terrier, Angus, recently won a first prize blue ribbon at the Sand and Sea Kennel Club in New Jersey.

The pup was entered by Mrs. Robert Shepard of West Bristol, a local breeder, in Mrs. Brown's behalf.

Angus also won a "breed puppy" citation.

Offered Cash Collateral

Lillian's Father's Bank Balance $28.96 At Time Of $25,000 Loan

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (UPI) — A New York bank official testified today that the father of ex-chorine Lillian Reis had a balance of $28.96 in his personal account in December, 1959—the same month he offered to put up $25,000 cash collateral to secure a loan for his daughter.

Harold Messerschmitt, (of 3484 Fish Ave., the Bronx) manager of the Delancy branch of the Bankers Trust Co. of New York, made the disclosure in testimony on the financial status of jeweler Sidney Reiskin.

At the burglary trial of the shapely brunette Monday, it was testified that Reiskin offered to pledge the collateral so Miss Reis could get a loan to buy a Philadelphia nightclub.

Messerschmitt said bank transcripts also showed that Reiskin's business account balance during that December ranged from a minimum of $1,838 to a maximum of 9,768.

Miss Reis, who has been late three times since the trial began, arrived promptly for the session, her 36-25-37 figure tightly fitted in a charcoal gray pin-striped dress.

Attorney Stanley M. Greenberg told the court Monday how Lillian persuaded a former boss to put up $25,000 cash security for a loan to buy the Celebrity Room, a Philadelphia nightclub where she once danced. Greenberg testified he negotiated the $40,000 purchase of the club.

Greenberg said Lillian asked him on Oct. 8, 1959 to negotiate the purchase for her and he drew up an agreement of sale eight days later. He said a $15,000 down payment was made on the club on Nov. 10, 1959.

The sale agreement came one month after the burglary of the basement safe of coal baron John B. Rich here, which the prosecution charged was masterminded by the pretty defendant. Police said the burglars took $478,000 from the safe, but Rich set the loot at $20,500 in cash and jewelry.

Greenberg said Lillian tried to borrow the $25,000 from the Top Finance Co. but was turned down. He said she later refused to pay a 10 per cent plus $5,000 bonus to another firm for a 6 per cent interest loan.

Finally, the attorney testified, Herman Seifrerth, an insurance man and secretary of the firm which owned the Celebrity Room when Lillian first worked there, agreed to put up $25,000 in cash as security for a loan from the Broad Street Trust Co.
